

CASCADIA
REGION GREEN BUILDING COUNCIL

Portland Branch Event
Tuesday, February 19, 2008
5:30 pm - 6:30 pm

RiverEast Center Tour

A former warehouse adjacent to the Hawthorne Bridge has been transformed to bring new life to the central eastside industrial area. RiverEast Center will bring over 250 jobs to the neighborhood and provide the City long awaited, improved public access to the East Bank esplanade. The innovative public plaza includes the first shared "green street" in Portland to treat stormwater from both public and private runoff sources as well as a public art installation from reclaimed building façade elements. RiverEast Center is expected to achieve LEED Gold certification.

RiversEast LLC, formed between Jeff Reaves, president of Group Mackenzie and Jay Haladay, Chief Executive Officer of Portland-based software development company Coaxis, developed the property as new, expanded headquarters for their respective companies.

CASCADIA - The Cascadia Region Green Building Council promotes the design, construction, and operation of buildings that are environmentally responsible, profitable, and healthy places to live and work in Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. PORTLAND BRANCH - Portland is one of five branches currently established in the Cascadia Region. We are forming partnerships, creating education opportunities, and providing a network of building professionals in the Northwest. For further information and how you can get involved, please visit our website at www.Cascadiagbc.org or contact Chris Forney and Tom Archer at Portland@cascadiagbc.org.
