5:30P - 7:30P
Standing Stone Brewery
101 Oak Street, Ashland

WHAT IS IT?

Rogue Valley Green Drinks fosters connections, raises awareness, and catalyzes the movement toward a more vibrant and sustainable valley. Green Drinks is a dynamic gathering and a prime networking arena for those looking for information and connections related to environmental and sustainability issues.

Serving as a venue for both networking and education, each Green Drinks features a presentation meant to spur further discussion and action. Topics span a wide range of sustainability issues, with an attempt made to explore new angles and often overlooked themes.

5:30-6:00: Networking and introductions

6:00-7:15: Presentation followed by questions

7:30-whenever: Networking and an exchange of ideas

ECONEST

Join two of the most highly respected professionals in the field: architect and author, Paula Baker-Laporte FAIA, and EcoNest Building Company Founder, life-long natural builder, teacher and author, Robert Laporte. Together they have over 50 years experience in the field of green design and building.

For most of us, our home is our center. It should be a sanctuary that nurtures body, mind and spirit. Sadly, standard homes today are built with little regard for our health or the environment. There are better ways to build; a home can be the focal point for health and sustainability. The EcoNest Company is located in Tesuque, New Mexico.

Robert Laporte is a timber framer, natural house building pioneer and teacher. Paula Baker-Laporte is an architect, biologist and author specializing in healthy and ecological design.
