

The Importance of Green Schools and National Advocacy

Rachel Gutter

Senior Manager, Education Sector, U.S. Green Building Council

Thursday, January 28
5:30 - 7:00
Center For Architecture
403 NW 11th Avenue
Portland, Oregon 97209

Rachel Gutter works on a national level to fulfill the US Green Building Council's pledge of a "green school for every child within a generation." As the leader of the National Green Schools Campaign and the LEED for Schools Green Building Rating, Rachel is at the front of the Green Schools Movement. While in Oregon to deliver the Oregon School Board Association key note, she will additionally speak in Portland on the importance of building green and national advocacy.

Presented by:

AIA Portland -
Committee on Architecture for Education

Refreshments will be served.

1 AIA Continuing Education credit

For Further Information Contact Christain Sinai at: christians@dowa.com

