TACOMA/OLYMPIA BRANCH MEETING

LEED 2009 & LEED AP Credentials

CASSANDRA DELAUNE, LEED AP, CSBA, SDTI COORDINATOR | O'BRIEN & COMPANY

As a current LEED AP you now have some choices to make and different paths that you can take. Our time together will discuss the choices available to current LEED APs and help you navigate your way through the system to insure you end up where you want to be. We will review the USGBC and Green Building Certification Institute (GBCI) changes and cover who will provide continuing education (CE) hours. Most importantly, every person will leave with a clear understanding of what they need to do next and when. In addition we will discuss what it means to be a LEED AP and how to maintain that credential as well as add additional specializations.

Cassandra Delaune has been in the building industry for many years, spending a significant amount of time teaching clients how to live more sustainable lives with her own consulting business. She enjoys presenting and has conducted many homeowner workshops, helping people discover how to reduce their residential energy consumption. At O'Brien & Company, she puts her MBA to work running the Sustainable Development Training Institute (SDTI). In addition to her MBA, Cassandra holds a BA in Journalism and a BA in Speech Communication.
