JOIN CASCADIA!

Join the most influential and active green building organization in the Pacific Northwest, Alaska and British Columbia. Cascadia is devoted to providing its members with the most cutting edge learning opportunities, important business connections and a network through which members can easily find the information they need. With membership you'll have a voice of leadership on the most critical issues of our time.

WHO SHOULD JOIN?

Membership is open to anyone who has a passion for green building and green communities. You should join if:

- You are a professional doing 'green' or LEED® work in Oregon, Washington, British Columbia or Alaska.
- You are a developer, building owner, facility manager, architect, engineer, builder, broker, planner or landscape professional.
- Cascadia's mission aligns with your own concerns for environmental change.
- You believe sustainable building practices should be standard practice and you want the market to move rapidly towards that goal.
- You want to shape how Cascadia grows and evolves - only members can vote or run for Cascadia's Board of Directors and local branch leadership.
