

Design begins as ideas. What are yours?

Transit-oriented Asa Flats + Lofts in Portland's Pearl District is beloved by its residents.

GGLO + DESIGN FOR THE HUMAN EXPERIENCE

The buildings, neighborhoods and communities in which we live our lives are vitally important to the well-being and development of all. We believe that through design we can make the world a healthier, happier, and more productive place. Our commitment to design that expands and enhances the human experience extends across all boundaries and into each and every one of our pursuits.

As our reputation grows, so does our need for skilled, passionate people who thrive on collaboration and believe deeply in design's ability to improve lives. If you love to mix it up with others of like mind, have a look at our latest opportunities—then connect with us.

We are currently recruiting for the following position:

Project Architect

- Minimum of 8 years of experience including exposure to project management
- Exceptional design ability
- Ability to establish both quantitative and qualitative goals and objectives for each project
- Exceptional communication and integrated design/team approach
- Strength in architectural development and detailing
- Effectively manage team members to maintain positive interaction, while ensuring the highest quality, meeting client expectations within the approved fee budget, project budget and project schedule
- Lead design reviews at designated stages of projects
- Strength in documentation & putting together construction documents
- Experience in a broad range of project types
- Demonstrate proficiency with AutoCAD and REVIT, candidates will have a minimum of one year of applied experience with REVIT in an office environment
- Photoshop, InDesign, SketchUp, hand sketching, rendering and presentation skills highly desired
- Develop proficiency in Deltek Vision Project Planning software – prior experience is a plus
- Efficient, thorough, detail oriented, and dedicated to quality work
- Willing to work on multiple fast paced projects
- Involved with their community
- Bachelor's or professional degree in Architecture required
- Registration required, State of Washington preferred
- LEED Accreditation preferred

GGLO offers competitive compensation, excellent benefits and is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

If our purpose statement resonates with you, you thrive on design dialogue, and collaboration and want to contribute to the GGLO culture, please submit a letter of interest, resume and not more than four pages of work samples to:

employment@gglo.com

Please no phone calls or drop-ins.